C.L.A.S.P. (Connective Link Among Special needs Programs) International is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization that allows certified speech language pathologists and other rehabilitation professionals to go into countries where developmental and rehabilitative care for individuals with special needs is not practiced and provide training to the natives of that country. The mission is to provide self-sustaining programming that allows each country to pass along training to future professionals working with special needs populations. Currently, CLASP is inserting programming at the University Teaching Hospital in Lusaka, Zambia in Africa.
